

plentyfishy

Do I have to include a tagline?

Labs and Wombs and Coughs

../plentyfishy.files.wordpress.com/2015/02/toycopt2.jpg

What an odd title, I hear you cry. Well, an odd title for an odd person seemed rather apt. And we truly are talking about an odd person here; a fantasist, attention-seeker, fabricator... I could go on for hours. A thin-skinned man with a penchant for starting odd blogs and diaries attempting to discredit a particular site that offers help to debtor's who are dealing with bailiffs.

He has for several years posted under a plethora of user-names including Labman, Rockclimber, Davyly, KayMoose, Caspar, Bboo, and so on. These are all now not in use, as he has again re-invented himself.

He held three 'Twitter' accounts; Just_Me, The Squirt, and Damtrap, and would act as if they were three different people, having conversations with himself. Again, now all defunct.

FANTASY

His fantastical mind holds no bounds; he has a thousand-bottle wine cellar, he's a composer, a choirmaster, friends with the Ellis family (who used to own Aston Villa), a skilled mechanic, a debt advisor, used to work for Somerset Council, rides motorbikes; I could go on.

Even when it comes to the one thing he can be proud of, he wrecks it by lying about it. He should be proud that he rose to the level of Headteacher of a primary school, but why lie about the time-scale?

He claims he was Headteacher between 1997 to 2004, a period of 7 years. Sadly a quick check reveals he was Headteacher between September 1999 to December 2002 when he had to leave for 'medical reasons'. He's never worked since.

He also claims to have been Headteacher at a different school before that between 1991 to 1997. Now given that he was born in 1964, and assuming a September start as Headteacher, he would have been just 27 when this happened. That is exceedingly young and would have made the national press.

"I'm good friends with Oliver Ellis the Son of Doug Ellis who used to be the owner of Aston Villa" he once declared, a very left-field remark. A remark made even more strange by the fact that it is untrue. Why make up something as obscure as that? Beats me, but here's the response I got from when I contacted Oliver via Facebook to ask if he knew the fellow in question: "No sorry I don't know him". How odd.

MENTAL HEALTH

Now, this odd person has been very open about his mental health issues; I wouldn't bring this to the fore if he himself hadn't been so candid, so I feel it can be discussed. He used to, for want of a better word, 'boast' about the need for the South Wales Helicops to scramble their chopper to rescue him when he had an episode and would go missing in the local valleys. Sometimes, this was, he said, a nightly occurrence, and barely a week would go by without another 'incident', the details of which he would post on various forums.

Then came something he didn't expect; it was discovered the SW Helicops maintained a twitter feed of every time they sent the chopper up, sometimes for assistance, sometimes just for info. He didn't know about this. When it was pointed out, he left several messages on their feeds regarding a particular search for 'a vulnerable person' stating "That was me! thank you for your help" and other such messages.

However, someone then diligently cross referenced the earlier dates of his declared 'episodes' to the dates of the SW Helicops posts when they were searching for a vulnerable person.... none matched. The dates he said he had to be rescued did not tally with their records. In an absurd twist, he then declared that SW Helicops don't tweet his rescues as he is a vulnerable person (VP), in fact they don't tweet any times they search for a VP.

Can you see the mistake there? Not only does SW Helicops twitter feed have many, many tweets regarding VP searches, he even thanked them for one he says was him! Just to be clear, SW Helicops confirmed to me that they tweet EVERY occasion they go up. It's also interesting to note that since he became aware of the Twitter feed, he no longer 'goes missing'.

APPROPRIATE

This odd fellow has a penchant for spreading himself over a myriad of forums, giving advice on bailiffs and debt. However, how would the person receiving the advice feel if they knew that this person was a self-confessed unstable mental health sufferer prone to 'fugue states' and regular breakdowns that have needed him to be sectioned (according to him of course)?

He has confessed to trying to kill himself on numerous occasions via hanging with a Dyson vacuum lead, drinking bleach, pouring scalding water on himself, plus more. He claims to have been sectioned; on one of these sections, he started a blog called 'Freaky Farter'. This started the very night he he arrived at the hospital and the entries poured in continuously.

Now, call me old-fashioned, but I am not aware of any mental institution that gives you a laptop and allows immediate, unfettered access to the internet from the moment you arrive. It is made all the more bizarre as the posts admit that accessing the net and reading 'beastly' things others have written about him makes him worse.

So a periodical mental health sufferer, on a section is allowed by the medics to have immediate access to what makes him even more depressed? Are you mad? He states he can't even leave the house on his own as he has been known to become upset and confused with the outside world noise, and starts to hand tenners out to strangers outside Tesco's.

Is this really someone to be trusted to advise vulnerable, confused people in need of clear answers? Of course, everything he has stated regarding his mental health could be made up in a sort of attention-seeking exercise. Which is of course a mental health issue I suppose.

Comments on: "Labs and Wombs and Coughs" (27)

domestos said:

February 18, 2015 at 5:23 pm

he got someone the sack to – he's a nice man

★Like

Like

Full of Zeal said:

February 18, 2015 at 9:27 pm

I've heard about this guy. puts it all on. nothing wrong with him. just seeking attention.

★Like

Like

Michael G Zealey said:

February 18, 2015 at 10:38 pm

Haha! Yeah, have a go at me if you want mate! "Full of Zeal"?

My world is fine – it's YOU that seems to be a little obsessed with this internet person Labrats/Wombats.

What the hell did he do to you in reality? Or did he just prick your fragile ego online? And now you feel the need to actually start a blog to slag him off?

As a compassionate person, my advice to you would be to REALLY get a life. If this is all you have to worry about then you really are a sad little c.

Bye bye. lol.

mx

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 19, 2015 at 8:31 am

Hi Michael, thank you for your reasoned comments. I don't see where I'm slagging anyone off, just posting the truth. Let's just say that I've seen the transcripts of what is discussed in the members only chatbox – truly odious. Also, had to edit your lowest form of wit – no swearing please.

★Like

Like

Dragnet said:

February 20, 2015 at 11:54 am

Obviously ur unaware of the dozens of blogs this turd has written then deleted slagging off all and sundry. He has a live one at the moment. Some of the others are still available on the wayback machine. Even the police had to tell him off. U don't know the half of it sonny jim.

★Like

Like

Di said:

February 19, 2015 at 12:14 am

Nothing wrong with him-Acts all haunted & snivelling, forgetting names of websites that he reads. His body language is entirely different though-Slobbering on the settee, feet up & cup of tea in hand, relaxed as can be. A complete phony

★Like

Like

Sir Topham said:

February 19, 2015 at 7:54 am

U do realise this is probobly feeding his ego? Hes just a weirdo who needs ignoring.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 19, 2015 at 8:31 am

Had to edit – no names please!

★Like

Like

Peterbard said:

February 19, 2015 at 3:43 pm

I heard  (edit changed to Boner) wants shot of him but he won't leave her alone. keeps ringing her up so he can be seen as useful!!!

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 19, 2015 at 4:25 pm

Creepy. I've removed the name, no names please. Nicknames is fine. This lady is known as Boner.

★Like

Like

Leclerc said:

February 19, 2015 at 11:58 pm

Boner wants shot of him sure enough. She knows he's a brainless pest who is in danger of giving things away. She tells me she feeds him enough in his nuisance phone calls, but usually doesn't want to talk to the pathetic specimen.

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 20, 2015 at 12:07 am

Total crap. Why slag people off who you know sweet fa about? So much of this is just wrong info its untrue.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 20, 2015 at 9:10 am

Thank you Kate. Please feel free to highlight any errors.

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 28, 2015 at 12:30 am

Hard to know where to start. I have not got the stock of links you have about him. I know so much of this is untrue though it is not worth taking seriously.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 28, 2015 at 10:57 am

Again Kate, please feel free to highlight what's untrue. By the way, it's so clever how you manage to change your IP when you post. Please tell me how you do that.

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 28, 2015 at 3:08 pm

Reboot the router. Lots is untrue so it is hard ot know where to start. How about his fantasies? Are the all fantastic or are some true?

You should read the Welsh things site <http://www.plentyfishy.com> It is very good reading.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 28, 2015 at 4:08 pm

Reboot the router. That's amazing. When I reboot mine, the static IP stays the same. Yours seems to change cities. Amazing!

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 28, 2015 at 6:28 pm

Mine does not. Read <http://www.domestos.co.uk/> That is a good read

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 28, 2015 at 7:16 pm

I wrote <http://www.dyson.co.uk/> is a brilliant site but you will not let the link stay because of your Guru.

★Like

Like

Cauldron Kate said:

February 28, 2015 at 7:23 pm

I wrote <http://ask.metafilter.com/173016/How-can-I-prevent-myself-from-getting-skid-marks-in-my-underwear> is a brilliant site but you will not let the link stay because of your Guru. 7

★Like

Like

Chris L said:

February 28, 2015 at 9:50 pm

Hi, I just tried to post using the name Leclerc, using the name of a poster on LB, using a proxy from France. I don't care who I shit on.

★Like

Like

Comment Maker said:

February 28, 2015 at 10:21 pm

Feb 19th 11:58pm we have it pdf'd.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 28, 2015 at 10:28 pm

We? Oh my! Good to see you're using your real IP David.

★Like

Like

Comment Maker said:

February 28, 2015 at 10:31 pm

We, yes we think this is shameful.

★Like

Like

plentyfishy said:

February 28, 2015 at 10:38 pm

Is this 'we' the usual gang of idiots, or the voices in your head?

★Like

Like

kipper said:

March 1, 2015 at 12:38 am

Rebooting a router dont change the Ip.They are probably using a proxy,to hide themselves.

★Like

Like

Undercover Angel said:

March 2, 2015 at 4:17 am

It does change it with certain ISPs, I believe mine does. When you reboot the router your IP still resolves to your ISP, when people use a proxy it's often possible to see the underlying IP, otherwise the IP won't resolve to the same ISP so you can tell whether they are rebooting the router or using a proxy.

★Like

Like

Blog at WordPress.com. | The Spectrum Theme.

⊕ Follow

Follow "plentyfishy"

Build a website with WordPress.com