Do I have to include a tagline?

The Doctor Will See You Now

Doctor Fishy awaits his next patient.

"Ah Mr Gravy, do sit down. Now what can I do for you today?"

"Alright there our Doc, those cobbles on street have been playing murder on my knees again."

"Let me take a look. Oh my, your legs are like a child's! They don't seem to have matured with the rest of your body."

"I know our Doc, they've caused me gyp for as long as I can remember. Our missus say their like little boy's legs, just like when our kids were growing up. The thighs and the ankles are OK, but I've just got no strength in the knees at all. None"

"I see. So your legs are the size of a child's legs with strength in the thighs and ankles, but not the knees? Fascinating."

"Aye. So what's your diagnosis our Doc?"

"It seems very obvious to me Mr Gravy. You have weak kid knees"

Doctor Fishy awaits his next patient.

"Ah Mrs Hardon, please come in. How can I help you today?"

"Oh Doctor, I keep having spells where I can't see and at the same time my nose becomes blocked. Whatever could it be Doctor?"

"Hmmm. I'll have to have a closer look. I'm just going to shine a torch in your eyes and your nasal passage. Please keep still."

"Ooh, it's a little uncomfortable. I hope you can help."

"Yes, I can see the problem Mrs Hardon. The muscles around your eyes have weakened, and the eyeballs keep dropping into the nasal cavity."

"What? Is it serious?"

"It's a known problem, Mrs Hardon, which occurs from looking down one's nose at people too much. I could arrange for an operation, but I must warn you that I may need to re-use stitches that have been removed from another patient."

"I don't think that's appropriate Doctor. This is an important subject that requires it's own thread."

"Well, I could see you as a private patient, but it will cost £500"

"Can I write you a cheque?"

"I'll get back to you later on."

(../plentyfishy.files.wordpress.com/2015/03/gp.png) Doctor Fishy awaits his next patient.

"Ah Mr Rat, take a seat, you must be exhausted. Did you fly here again?"

"No, I've given all that up since I discovered the Twitter feed."

"I see. Perhaps for the best. Now what seems to be the problem?"

"I keep having episodes when I'm accompanying my choir on the church organ with a composition I wrote. I think they're called Toccata and Fugue states, which exacerbates my autism or do I mean Asperger's? I can't recall everything that happens but I seem to end up soaking wet as if I've been swimming. I'm an excellent driver."

"That is concerning. Do you remember when this started Mr Rat?"

"Since 2002 but it worsened each year peaking in 2012 when I celebrated my 50th birthday when I was 48. It was possibly when I was dating a member of the Royal Family. I used to serenade her on my viola whilst parachuting naked in my car handing out money to strangers. I'm an excellent driver."

"This all sounds a little far-fetched Mr Rat."

"It's all true, all of it! You better be careful or I'll shake my walking stick at you. I was the youngest ever headmaster and they didn't even report it in the news! You just ask my good friend Oliver who I go rock and ice-climbing with in my kayak, whilst manning the phones for the Samaritans who sacked me for being too good at the job. You think you know about MY life? I run a consultancy firm and two charities, and that wonderful Mrs Hardon phones me for advice on interpreting legislation. I'm an excellent driver."

"You are quite clearly mad, Mr Rat. I'm afraid I'll have to section you."

"Does the hospital have good Wi-Fi?"
